

Hunterland Who's Who – The Patrol Car

Among urban fauna, the Patrol Car is unique owing to its colourful display of overhead lights and the distinctly shrill cry it emits while pursuing its prey. The Patrol Car can be spotted especially when harassing packs of loitering youth, mainly of the African and South American variety. It can also be seen hiding behind billboards when stalking its prey. Pursuit can often be faster than the cheetah, but liable to disastrous crashes into other cars or solid stationary obstacles. The Patrol Car has recently been accused of overzealousness causing the death of innocent civilians; but in spite of calls for de-funding, it does not appear to be in danger of extinction any time soon.
